

Privacy Policy

Eurosyst company document

About this policy

This policy explains how Eurosyst may collect and use personal information when people contact us, request a quotation, apply for work, use our website or otherwise interact with our services.

Information we may collect

Depending on the interaction, this may include name, contact details, organisation, enquiry details, recruitment information, correspondence, technical website information and information required to deliver or administer security services.

How we use information

We use personal information where necessary to respond to enquiries, provide quotations and services, manage recruitment, administer contracts, protect our legitimate business interests, comply with legal obligations and maintain security.

Where consent is the appropriate lawful basis, consent can be withdrawn.

Sharing and security

We only share personal information where there is a legitimate operational or legal reason, including with service providers acting on our instructions or authorities where required by law. We use reasonable organisational and technical measures to protect information.

Retention

Personal information is retained only for as long as reasonably necessary for the purpose for which it was collected, including legal, contractual, security and record-keeping requirements.

Your rights

Depending on the circumstances, UK data protection law may give you rights of access, correction, erasure, restriction, objection and data portability. You may also complain to the Information Commissioner's Office.

Contact

For privacy questions or requests, contact info@eurosyst.co.uk. We may ask for information to verify identity before acting on a request.