

Website Disclaimer

Eurosyst company document

General information

Eurosyst aims to keep website information accurate and useful, but website content is general information and should not be treated as a substitute for a site-specific security assessment, formal quotation, contract or professional advice.

Availability and accuracy

We do not guarantee that the website will always be available, error-free or fully up to date. Security services and system specifications may change according to site conditions, risk, technology, availability and legal requirements.

External links

Where the website links to third-party services or websites, those destinations are controlled by their respective operators. A link does not by itself constitute endorsement of all third-party content.

Liability

Nothing in this disclaimer excludes liability that cannot be excluded under applicable law. Subject to that, Eurosyst is not responsible for losses caused by reliance on general website information where a specific assessment or contractual specification is required.